Reading, 9; Richmond, 6.

Atlantic League Near Its End.
Reading, Pa., August 5.—To-night the Reading players received orders to report on Monday to go to Allentown to play there, which is taken as an indication that the Atlantic League will last only a few days longer. Its disbandment, it is believed, will take place next week. The Reading club's manager issued this statement:
"If Wilkesbarre drops out, so will we, because I would not think for a moment of continuing in a four-club league by dropping Newark, a proposition that was made. Allentown and Lancaster are anxious to continue."

Paid Off and Disbanded.
Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 5.—The Wilkesbarre club arrived home to-night. The players were paid off and the team disbanded. The players signed by Manager Manning of Kansas City, will leave for the West on Monday.

The players to go are: Pitchers—Patten and Jameson; Catcher—Gooden; Second Baseman—Burns; Shortstop—Clymer and Right Fielder—Halligan. The price paid to have been paid is $1,500.

A Deal Declared Off.
(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.)
New York, August 5.—After a three hours' conference last night the owners of the Brooklyn and Baltimore clubs decided to declare the Jennings-Noye-DeMontreville deal off. The latter two players will remain in Baltimore. Jennings returns to Brooklyn.

INTERESTING RELICS.
Biceps Muscle of John Brown's Son and Skin From Negro's Forehead.
(Richmond Dispatch.)

Messrs. B. M. and Oscar T. Hines, Eighteenth and Main streets, are great lovers of relics, and they have a small but very interesting collection, which it would be next to impossible to duplicate. A rather gruesome memento of the John Brown insurrection is a two-inch square of tanned human skin cut by their father, Dr. B. M. Hines, of Pilot, Montgomery county, from the forehead of an unknown negro killed at Harper's Ferry when Brown was wounded there and his feeble uprising nipped in the bud. This piece of skin was tanned at the Medical College at Winchester. It is soft to the touch and very tough. A large enough quantity would make heavy gloves or any shoes. For the handling of a book it would be unsurpassed.

But perhaps the most interesting and also the most gruesome relic which the Hines have is a piece of the biceps muscle cut from the arm of Oliver Brown, son of John Brown, by his father. It was while Dr. Hines was a student at the Winchester College. Oliver Brown, son of John Brown, had been executed at Charleston, W. Va., (then Virginia), and his body was brought to Winchester and given to the students, or procured by them, for dissection. Dr. Hines, Dr. Hunter McGuire, of this city, and a number of other physicians now living were students there at the time. They were not quite ready to go to work on the body, and, preparing it for safe-keeping, had it labeled and sent up to the museum. The students, among them Dr. Hines and Dr. McGuire, soon after this went off to the army, and it was just before going that Dr. Hines, passing through the museum one day, noticed the body and stopped to cut the relic from the arm. He preserved it all through the war and the succeeding years, and lately gave it to his son.

It is said to be a historical fact that the Union army found this body in Winchester College museum, labeled as it was, and because of it burned the college to the ground. This is not an idle tale, but its truth will be confirmed by leading physicians of the State. Mr. Hines had his relic at his store, and the hand writing this picked at the sleeve, which were nearly forty years ago part of the arm of a notorious son of a notorious father.

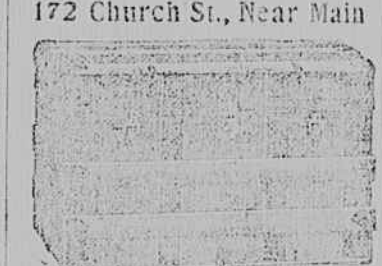

Mrs. Pinkham's Medicine Made a New Woman of Mrs. Kuhn.
(LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM, No. 6, 1899.)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I think it is my duty to write to you expressing my sincere gratitude for the wonderful relief I have experienced by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tried different doctors, also different kinds of medicine. I would feel better at times, then would be as bad as ever.

"For eight years I was a great sufferer. I had falling of the womb and was in such misery at my monthly periods I could not work but a little before I would have to lie down. Your medicine has made a new woman of me. I can now work all day and not get tired. I thank you for what you have done for me. I shall always praise your medicine to all suffering women."
—MRS. E. E. KUHN, GERMANO, OHIO.

"I have taken eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used two packages of your Sanative Wash, also some of the Liver Pills, and I can say that your remedies will do all that you claim for them. Before taking your remedies I was very bad with womb trouble, was nervous, had no ambition, could not sleep, and my food seemed to do me no good. Now I am well, and your medicine has cured me. I will gladly recommend your medicine to every one wherever I go."
—MRS. M. L. SHIRAS, GUN MAHER, MICH.
